

Cynthia L Rapp

From: David Sanger [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, April 02, 2012 5:24 PM
To: Cynthia L Rapp
Subject: Re: Your pages

(b)(6)

Didi,

(b)(6)

[REDACTED] But it's wonderful that [REDACTED]

(b)(6)

[REDACTED] and I can only imagine his pride. That's pretty lucky for both of them.

(b)(6)

I don't know exactly where that chapter will be in the production process early next week. I'm in town part of monday, but away tues. and weds. Why don't we both track this -- you on Mr. Morell's schedule, and me on the Random House process -- and we'll reconvene. Did he get back to you Friday on the specifics on those pages?

David

On Mon, Apr 2, 2012 at 5:18 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

(b)(3)

David -

Oh, man, don't tell me even the Higher Authority doesn't trust us now!

Just kidding.

I am sorry to tell you that [REDACTED] and I am not clear what his plans are at this point. I would guess he will not be available until early next week. Is that too late for you?

(b)(6)

Didi

From: David Sanger [REDACTED]
Sent: Monday, April 02, 2012 5:13 PM
To: Cynthia L Rapp
Subject: Re: Your pages

(b)(6)

Didi,

Consulted higher authority and, as I suspected, there's great resistance to having the chapter out of our hands. But I'd be happy to meet up with Michael and you at the end of this week or over the weekend with a copy of the proofs, and we can go through it. Just let me know what works for him.

cheers,
David

On Fri, Mar 30, 2012 at 7:37 PM, wrote:

(b)(3)

David – Michael has the pages of text you sent over, but he is concerned that he isn't seeing the whole flow, how the parts are fitting together. Would it be possible for him to see the entire chapter? You know we aren't going to scoop you! Appreciate your consideration - Didi